Reviewer:

>> The writing of the manuscript. There are a many incomplete sentences or sentences without subjects.

>> Your abstract does not highlight the specifics of your research or findings. Rewrite the Abstract section to be more meaningful. I suggest being Problem, Aim, Methods, Results, and Conclusion.

>> Introduction section can be extended to add the issues in the context of the existing work and how proposed approach can be used to overcome this.

>> Add main contributions list as points in the Introduction section.

>> Add the rest organization section at the end of the Introduction section.

>> The authors should consider more recent research done in the field of their study

>> If no one has proposed before a method, this claim should be highlighted much more. Else, it should be indicated who has done this, and it should be indicated what the innovations of the current paper are.

>> Explain what kind of simulations will be provided in Section 4 at the beginning of the section.

>> The proposal does not present information so can be reproduced by readers.

>> Please, also provide a paragraph with three to five clear positive impacts

- >> The authors also do not describe why the proposed outperformed other existing method.
- >> Results need more explanations. Additional analysis is required at each experiment to show its main purpose.
- >> The results are not easy to follow. The proposed method and experiments are not clearly illustrated. Result and Discussion section is inadequate. Need more attention and better explanation.
- >> The authors should further detail the preparation
- >> A comparison with state of art in the form of table should be added
- >> The Limitations of the proposed study need to be discussed before conclusion.
- >> Please include the contribution of this paper, limitation of this study and future research in the Conclusion Section.
